Student Life

Sophomore, Tony Bird is taking a break from the school society. Actually he's sitting in in-school suspension for doing something he shouldn't have done. We know that you just had a bad day, Tony.

Participating in a teacher-student switch-around day by wearing a YDC sweatshirt, very well known around school, is Mr. Fierst. This particular day is during Homecoming week, a special time for the students.

Mike Steinhart works hard in shop class so he can get a good job after high school.

Angie Lechner sees what size graduation cap Dennis Tarvin can wear.

The sign says it, but does Amy Erny really mean it?

Lisa Boger, Jill Kunz, Candi Watkins, and Cassie Colby relax in the bright Florida sun while here it was snowing during Spring Break.

What's this? A new varsity cheerleader? Daniel "Boonie" Krueger shows his pride for the Jasper Cheerleading Squad by wearing a Cheerleading jacket.

Pam Mehringer gives us her "What's going on?" look, but she know's exactly what is going on. She's on the Yearbook Staff's Candid Camera.

Weekends

Some, like Shane Steffen, spend the weekend resting.

Bowling is a way to keep Chris Weisman occupied.

What are we going to do this weekend? This was the most popular question students asked friends during the school week.

The weekend was a tension release for some students after the long, dreary week of studying and working. It helped some to make new and adventurous friends, and gave them time to be themselves. Working gave enjoyment to friends as they worked together, discussed rumors, and told tales of how their favorite teacher or student made the class more enjoyable.

As the year moved on, it seemed difficult for some to attempt to find recreation to keep occupied and out of trouble.

But most students did.

Angie Bridgewater works part-time for spending money.

Apparel varies, as Jodi Bruggenschmidt models her latest fashion statement.

Can you see what 8 things don't belong here? Jenny Schwenk, Stephanie Fowler, Jennifer Bartley, and Kim Wehr, always proud of their beauty, think this is the way to catch guys.

In his Toga and New Year's banner, Jay Scheerle cracks a smile.

Robert Dickman prepares for his weekend battle.

Dances

There was a total of fifteen dances this year, not including prom, with an average of over 200 students at each dance, but Mr. Hayes would like to see the attendance up. "It is good exercise for the students, and a very good way for clubs to raise money. We will continue to try to find more ways to get students to participate."

The dances were a big success, both in giving students enjoyment, and in helping clubs to raise money.

Emily and Botch dance the night away.

Jan Rohleder, Katie Hayes, and Mark Buechlein take a break from their dancing to pose for a picture.

A cool group of seniors demonstrates how to protect their eyes from the bright lights at the dances.

Brian Voges (Beeper) shows his sadness that the dance is about to end.

An unidentified chicken catches attention while he clucks to the beat of the music.

"My advice to everyone is to live it up while you can." -Kori Spindler

"I have many fond experiences under my belt that will help me strive for my post-high school goals." -Mike Keown

"It was great, but should have had more parties!" -Jenny Schwenk

Monday mornings can also be rough on teachers as demonstrated by Mr. Wendel.

Sophomores Travis Burgan, Nathan Hopster, and Sherri Renner pretend to be in deep thought with their studies.

Mad Scientists Nancy Hopf and Craig Heim test their latest discovery in Biology class.

Showing her hidden talent to Hillory McClure in class is Lynn Hubers.

Sometimes homework is just too much for T.J. Gibson to handle.

Here sits Jennifer Haas preparing herself to be the next famous artist.

Friendship

True friends accept each other for whom they are, not what they are. During the high school years many friendships are made and many friendships are broken. But true friends stay together.

As you walk down the halls at school, you can see which students are friends, because they usually walk to class together.

er.

Friends are someone who you can tell your deepest secret to and not worry about it being all over school the next day.

If you have someone like this in your life, consider yourself lucky, because you are.

What are these girls up to?

Jennifer Meyer's true friends help her eat snow.

A group of twenty-nine seniors are freezing, while waiting for someone to snap their picture in front of their favorite high school.

Shandena Mills curls her friend Brett Boeglin's hair before the Motley Crue concert.

Dana Hautsch and Michelle Wells talk about "friend things" during their study hall.

Kevin Brown (DOG) shows his true friendship to Jason Stenftenagel (STEF) by baking him a pizza in Ind. Living.

Nancy Schnierle, Kurt Leinenbach, Janelle Luegers, Alan Schwenk, and Leslie Seger enjoy each other's friendship.

Fads

The 1989-90 school year came in and went out leaving behind many fads. Below, Kathy Jackle shows a fad that was around all year, ripped jeans. Along with the new decade came the 50's style. Rolled up jeans and high top sneakers were roaming the halls of J.H.S. This year, the hairstyles ranged from short and shaved, to long and braided. Jasper High is sure to see more!

Going back to the 50's, Jill Rasche shows one of her new styles.

These famous, and also hard to get, T-shirts are seen in every hall, from freshmen to seniors. Scott Schneider models his new shirt.

Top Middle. Stephanie Fowler ripped the hide off some local cow! Leather jackets are in a strong demand this year, and plenty more will be seen.

The primary goal of the Journalism II class, the Yearbook Staff, was to produce a yearbook all students would enjoy. Ad sales reached an all time high, and book sales were also outstanding. As a result, the staff was able to add another signature this year, 8 pages of color and 8 pages of black and white photos. J-staff members celebrated with several in-class parties, a pizza party at Noble Roman's, and a trip to the Olive Garden in Evansville.

Jennifer Bartley, Kim Wehr, Jenny Schwenk, and Shandena Mills work on a RAP for yearbook sales.

The Yearbook Staff is working hard to meet a deadline.

Michelle Gehlhausen tries to find a better way to design her layout (or her face).

Which one is Kim Wehr going to cut, the cake or Julie Bellner's throat?

With those big smiles you could never guess what Lisa Boger and Rachel Vonderheide are up to.

The Yearbook class gets excited about making this yearbook the best ever.

STUDENT

The Jasper High School's Student Council and Mr. Brames, their advisor, were responsible for the organization of many projects and activities for the 1989-90 school year. The major goal of the Student Council, organized to represent the entire student body, was to link the students to the faculty and staff. The members this year began a fairly large school improvement program. They gave suggestions to Mr. Hayes concerning possible improvements, and he then explored their ideas. This year their activities started off with a Christmas Toy Drive held from October through December to benefit under-privileged children. A secret teacher program from November to December kept the students in touch with the faculty, and a Spring Slave Day for charity was held in May. Other activities included a Lock-in which was responsible for bringing the council members together and a teacher appreciation week which was organized to say "thanks" to our teachers.

Jr. Civitan also had many other activities such as a dunking booth at the Dubois County 4-H Fair and at the Strassenfest in August. In October they took the Special Education students to Holiday World for a day of fun. The members planned for the Winter Special Olympics in January, but due to warm weather, the trip was cancelled. To German students, October 6 rings a familiar bell as German-American Day is recognized. This year the German Club sold candy, postcards, and cookbooks as a fundraiser. The money raised is usually used for the German exchange students. This year there were no exchange students, however, so the club bought a German VCR.

On February 10 in Bloomington at the Conference of German students, sophomore Vicki Kluemper was elected secretary of the Indiana Association of Students of German.

The German Club fulfilled its purpose of keeping the German heritage alive with Jasper being the sister city to Pfaffenweiler.

The purpose of the Spanish Club was to help sponsor students who wish to study in Spain, to achieve constant enrichment of the language, and to make the Spanish culture, people, and influence well known within the community.

They also produced and directed "Cinderella," a children's play, in May for the community. This year's goal for the Forensics Theatre was to motivate students to try speech competition.

1989-90 Bands consisted of Marching, Pep, Symphonic, and Concert. The Marching Band attended Band Camp at Middle Tennessee State University during the summer of '89. The Band performed for the community in parades, and members attended many contests where they were rated for their performance.

The Pep Band provided the music for the home football and basketball games. The Symphonic and Concert Band performed at a Band Contest on April 7.

Throughout the year the band members participated in fundraisers. From Sept. 13-27, a Magazine Sale was held; from Nov. 7-21, a Winter Fruit Sale was sponsored; and from Feb 12-28, a Spring Fruit Sale was held.

All the members of the band performed at the Commencement Exercises on May 25th.

These were North Montgomery High School, Franklin High School, Northview High School, Terre Haute South High School, and State Finals at Indianapolis. The Color Guard also performed pre-game ceremonies for home basketball games. These activities provided further training for fall guard members. They also received experience and competition through the Indiana High School Color Guard Association.

Extra, Extra read all about it!!! What is your favorite issue of the COMET throughout the year? The Comet Staff produces six issues a year (three a semester). The most popular issues are the April Fool's edition and the Senior Will issue. This year is the third year for the Literary Magazine. According to Mr. LaGrange, the Literary Magazine is the most expensive issue with the printing of true stories and fiction stories, along with some poems and art work. All this calls for more pages. With the contributions from Stradtner Drug's (Flick's) and PTO the staff was able to produce the special issue.

FOOTBALL HOMECOMING

"ONE MOMENT IN TIME"

"One Moment In Time" is something Chris Hopf and Sarah Blackwell experienced on the night of Friday, October 13, 1989, as they were crowned the Football Homecoming King and Queen by Student Council members Denise Keller and Troy Robinson. Kristen Geiger sang the theme song "One Moment In Time," by Whitney Houston, and Alli Tagliareni announced the Homecoming members as they walked across the football field. Although the football team suffered a loss to Mount Vernon, and it was Friday the 13th, the night turned out to be a success and will be well remembered by all.

"HEAVEN"

What a night to remember! Basketball Homecoming was held on the nice cool night of February 10, 1990. Allison Waddell and Brad Ahlbrand were crowned Queen and King by Chris Hopf, a senior member of the basketball team, and Pam Mehringer, the senior secretary of the student council. The Homecoming theme was "Heaven," which was sung very well by Nathan LaGrange. Members of the court were announced by Sarah Blackwell. Although the basketball team lost the game, the night was still exciting and the gym was packed with supporters of the 1990 basketball team and Homecoming Court.

Prom 1990

This year's Prom was a huge success! The atmosphere was not too great. It was a rainy and cold night, but despite that fact, the students still had fun. The theme for this year was "Love Will Find A Way". The colors were teal, iridescent, and hot pink. The cafeteria was decorated beautifully and the gym, where the refreshments were located, had an accent of splendor to it also. The time came to announce the Prom King and Queen so the students filed into the cafeteria to hear Shelley Wuchner and Matt Weinzapfel announced. (Pictured to the right) The Junior Prince and Princess were Emily Tanner and Bryan Schneider. Prom was held from 9:00 to Midnight, and the students held out until the very end. The junior class did a marvelous job, and were congratulated on it.

Post Prom

For many, Post Prom proved to be a very profitable night. The prizes ranged from a car to tanning sessions at Sun Station. In between was anything from King's Island tickets to just plain cash. There was pizza to be eaten and soft drinks to be drunk for anyone feeling the urge to eat. Many businesses donated food and money to make this night a success and from the talk of the students, their time and effort were well worth it!

When the team took the court in August, hopes were high for the upcoming season. Some of the goals for the season were to win the Big 8 Conference, Sectional, Regional, and Semi-state. The team finished 29-5 overall and accomplished two of these goals, winning Sectional and Regional.

Individuals who put their names in the record book were Seniors Leslie Elliott, who broke 3 school records including single match blocks, single season blocks, and career blocks; Denise Keller who broke the school record for "Career Assists"; Melissa Greulich, Pam Mehninger, and Julie Heeke. " 'Team success over all else' was this team's great attitude," said Coach Zehr. With their attitude of "total unselfishness" and their accomplishments, they contributed to "one of the best teams to ever play here in the 18 years of the program," added Zehr.

The goals for the Freshman team this year were to win the Big 8 conference tourney and prepare for playing at the varsity level. Behind the leadership of Kurt Fuhs, who led the team in scoring and assists, and the hustle of J.J. Reyling, the team went after these goals.

"Although the team fell short of the tournament championship, they worked extremely hard all year long and wanted to improve. It was an enjoyable year and a good group to be associated with," said Coach Dan Scherry. The team finished with an overall record of 10-6.

The team captains, Mike Prechtel and Chris Flamion, showed "great team leadership qualities through their excellent support and actions, and therefore accomplished this goal," Coach Lents said. He added, "The team had a great year." Being such a young team they will excel in the season to come." During the year, each boy showed improvement.
