the ins and outs

TWENTY TWENTY FOUR

NOTE FROM THE EDITOR.

Throughout the process of planning for this book, I knew we were taking on a lot. Compared to the 1,084 students at Jasper High School, our twelve staff members knew this book was going to be a lot of work. Over the school year, you probably noticed one of our photographers or reporters. You might have noticed ly and Ava at every basketball game taking pictures.

Maybe you were interviewed by Lilly about your favorite teacher. Although it was not easy to make happen, we are proud to have captured almost every memorable moment from this school year. This book would not be completed without everyone's hard work.

I would like to thank the staff for working their tails off for finishing the book at a decent time, and an even bigger thank you to the ones that came back during the summer. Yearbooks take a lot longer to produce than one would think, so I am extremely grateful to have my other editors. Shoutout to Mr. Elrod for being an amazing internship teacher- Abby, Drew, and I got so many fun opportunities and prepared us so much. Thank you for allowing me the creative freedom with this book, I know I definitely scared you at some of the points of design. Thank you to Mrs. Clark who let me (and Abby) skip homeroom everyday for the past two years to work on the book. I would also like to thank Bret Astrike, who donated several very nice cameras to the program. I am very grateful for my lovely friends who were always super encouraging and helpful. And lastly, thank you, students of Jasper High School. Without you guys, this book would be empty! Thank you for showing up to events, participating in extracurriculars, and just having fun with your friends.

When I was designing the spreads for this book, I wanted to create a more colorful book- simply because color is fun. I moved to Jasper in 8th grade, and I can say this school is definitely not like any other I have been to. Your classmates and friends make or break your year. I am very happy that Jasper has a good support system of students and staff. Smaller things throughout the year such as trends, class projects, and field trips can be easily forgotten. Larger events that won't be forgotten as quickly still have a chance to disappear as time goes on. That is why I wanted to focus on everything that happened this school year, The Ins and Outs. This book is very untraditional, something I love and am very proud of. I believe that yearbooks should be fun, therefore more colorful. Sometimes life can feel very serious, but I think that yearbooks should capture all the enjoyable moments throughout the year. Yearbooks should be nostalgic, and when you flip through this book I hope all the small memories you forgot about return to you. I hope you think this book is as fun as I do, happy reading!

Friday Night Lights. Dressing in all black and gold. Participating in spirit weeks. These events may be the most stereotypical "school spirit" events, but at Jasper school spirit can look like a lot more. Wildcat Spirit can be seen in the stands of any home Wildcat game. It can be seen at Walmart when you spot a grandparent wearing Jasper merch. Cheering on our Little Wildcats as they graduate preschool. Spotting a Jasper sports sticker on the backs of cars. Tuning into teams play at State (while you are stuck at school.) School spirit may seem over-rated at some times, but when the day is over, school spirit brings us together. So while you might think the pep sessions are a waste of your time, there will come a moment where you sit through your last one and wish for one more. Senior class president Hope Fromme comments on school spirit. "I think a lot of the school thinks just supporting your school is dumb. Well it's not dumb, it's fun! Those people are just too stubborn to see that it's not "lame" to support your friends or home team. I am actually super sad that I just finished our last pep session. Honestly, it makes me sad when no one participates. I am so glad the seniors all had fun at the pep sessions, and took up a good portion of student sections at games. Make more high school memories with your friends, because it will be over so so so soon. If I friends go to every football, soccer, baseball, could turn back time I would make all my tennis, softball, even golf! event possible."

Under twinkling spotlights, seniors Hope Fromme and Brandon Mehringer take the crown amid the festivities of Homecoming on Friday, September 29th. Emma Schipp and Mitchell Mauck, also seniors, got the honor of crowning them. According to Mauck, "It was so exciting to get to crown Hope! She has been one of my good friends for a while and definitely deserved this."

While this was the first time Hope and Brandon won King and Queen, their journey with Homecoming courts extends back in time. The two first partook in the ceremony their freshman year as a part of the baseball homecoming court. Commenting on the full circle moment, Fromme remarked, "It was amazing to be on the court again because I was able to look back and see the difference between freshman year and senior year. It truly shows how all of us have grown over the years and it was bittersweet to see."

For Hope and Brandon, the field lights of Homecoming night illuminated not only their victory, but also the senior class's overall growth. It emphasized the bittersweet reality of nearing the end of their high school journey and created a roundabout moment, where memories of the past and ambitions of the future come together in one glistening moment.

A WHOLE NEW WORLD. Over summer break, students from JHS got the chance to take a trip to Greece, Italy and Spain. The students that signed up had a two-week excursion, traveling to various locations and sightseeing popular destinations. The art teachers offer a new trip around every three years, so every student at Jasper gets the chance to go.

Fundraisers and pay programs help the students save up over the course of year to attend. During the middle of summer, the students packed their things and got ready to board their flights. Preparing to visit multiple cities in Europe such as: Athens, Florence, Rome, Vatican City, Madrid, Delphi, Kalabaka, and Metsovo. The group packed a lot of activities into the short two-week period. Zip-lining, museum visits, and lots of pizza places left the students with lasting memories.

NOT A SUMMER BUMMER. After a lot of hiatuses due to COVID-19, this year many top artists went on tour again. Over summer break during the fall, students from JHS went to a variety of concerts including: Lana Del Rey, Taylor Swift, and Luke Bryan. Junior Sara Vaughn attended the Lana Del Rey concert on a school night, she describes her experience as "extremely fun and stressful. I had like no hours of sleep because we had to drive back from Nashville after midnight. It was so worth it because I have been a huge Lana fan for many years," she adds. Luckily a lot of these concerts took place on a weekend or during the summer, so students got to sleep for as long as needed.

that rival medicine of the season is gone

With two broken toes, one case of severe tendinitis, a case of appendicitis, and parting members, the Jasper Color Guard faced many difficult challenges during their two seasons. Coach Anna Borden explains how she pushed through the setbacks, "When things don't go as planned, you don't give up... you get better!" Despite these setbacks, they persevered through every injury, illness, and change in choreography to end their season as 4th in the state for marching band and 7th for winter guard. The guard played an integral role in the Marching Wildcat's show, "All the World's a Stage". With their spinning flags and vibrant facial expressions, they made William Shakespeare's shows come to life. After returning home as state champions the previous year, the fourth-place title didn't seem as rewarding. Some were confused because they believed it was their best run, but freshman Madi Hulse claims, "Our post-state debrief was very needed to clear up the confusion surrounding our placing and performance. After watching the video when we arrived back at JHS the fourth-place win seemed well deserved." However, they had no time to stop before their winter guard season started. Each week they debuted a new show because of the multitude of changes needed to accommodate the people who were unable to finish the season. These issues caused them to need to pull out of a competition only to return the next week to get a second-place win at Northview High School.

After their final change during the week of state finals, the show was ready to blow everyone away. Freshman Lorelei Stone claims, "The most important part of competition is sitting and watching the other guards, which was actually one of my favorite experiences at state." Even though the rough challenges the guard faced may have been the defining factors for their season, the memories of the last time on the floor together will be what take away from this season.

YOUNG ROYALS Children of JHS teachers are chosen to to present the royalty with their adornments.

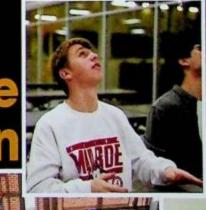

After a fight race, seniors Pace Clark and CaiLyn Kerr embrace their newfound royalty, as students and parents celebrate their win. Fellow seniors, Kate Jerger and Griffin Hile, were bestowed with the honor of crowning the two. The homecoming ceremony, put on by Student Council, took place in the Jasper High School Gymnasium on January 26th, 2024. All students had the opportunity to nominate candidates and vote for king and queen the week leading up to remarkable night. Homecoming allows students to come together and recognize noteworthy individuals who strive to make the school a better place. Being a part of the court is an honor that should not be taken lightly. Kerr shares that she has "always been welcomed kindly by Jasper High School" and that "it means a lot to me that my peers see me as someone who can represent our school."

As students gathered to honor their classmates for their dedication and commitment to school, a sense of camaraderie and fellowship was created. The echoes and shining lights of the basketball court may have faded, but the warmth and admiration shown from the community will linger for many vears to come.

Students take part in homecoming week activities

BOOM, POP. Before Homecoming Week, seniors Lilly Rasche and Mitchell Mauck work on making a balloon arch for the senior hallway. As the fourth year on student council, both of them have done their fair share of taping, cutting, and coloring different elements for each homecoming hallway. Rasche reminisces, "I'm glad this was our last hallway, but I am also sad it's over."

SMART COOKIE. Junior Thomas Seger attempts to be the first to get an Oreo from his forehead to his mouth without using his hands. Of all the homecoming week games, food based competitions are always the most popular and memorable.

THINKING AHEAD. After a busy week AP testing, the Education classes took a field trip to Patoka Lake. The students are all assistant teachers and helpers at the local elementary schools, looking to become teachers after college. Juniors Lylianah Cowan, Kerrigan Kieffner, Izzy Schwenk, Jordyn King, Ella Erny, and Jasmine Nicastro all posed together halfway through their hike. King mentioned that they were on this field trip to, "plan fun outdoor actives for future students. I babysit a lot during the summer too, so this was good to see the area of where the kids can hike and learn."

TOP OF THE CLASS. Class of 2024 valedictorian Alexander Bastien gives his final message to his peers. Bastien focused his message on time and how it can not be controlled and yet, humans try to. He cleverly brought in his experience being a drum major at Jasper High School and talked about how he also attempted to control time that had already been lost.

STILL UNWRITTEN. Class president Hope fromme accepts her diploma after giving her speech. Graduation happened to fall on her late mother's birthday, and she took a heartfelt moment to remember her during the speech.

For the Class of 2024, this day was not just a ceremony; it was a celebration of four transformation years that shaped them into who they are today. These graduates entered high school in the middle of a global pandemic, their first high school year was filled with masks and hybrid learning.

The gymnasium, a sea of black and gold, buzzed with an energy that could only come from a group of young adults on the brink of their future. The stage was decorated for the momentous occasion with gold sunflowers and white lilles. Families and friends were packed into the bleachers, buzzing with excitement to watch their graduate walk across the stage.

As the graduates filed in, their faces lit up with a mix of pride and nervous anticipation, their capes swishing behind them like symbols of their hard-earned achievements. Stand-out seniors, Alexander Bastien, Sebastian Graham, and Hope Fromme all gave speeches before receiving their diplomas. Following the speeches, graduates got their diplomas from the school board, and the crowd erupted into applause. The moment was a culmination of years of hard work and dedication, and the joy was very noticeable.

At the end of the night, the Class of 2024 left Jasper High School not just with diplomas, but with a sense of accomplishment and an abundance of memories. They had grown from teenagers into young adults, ready to take on the world with the skills, knowledge, and resilience they had developed. As they move forward, they carry with them the spirit of their high school days- a reminder of their bright future.

Starting in March, Kendrick Lamar disses Drake on Future and Metro Boomin's Like That, "The big three," Lamar raps, referencing J. Cole's boast to his career. He references Drake's 2023 album "For All the Dogs," and also compares himself to Prince and Drake to Michael Jackson: "Prince outlived Mike Jack." On April 13, Drake responds in his song, Push Ups, where he raps, "You ain't in no Big Three." Kendrick Lamar responds with a six minute song on April 30th, titled Euphoria. "I got a son to raise, but I can see you know nothin' 'bout that," Lamar raps about Drake's supposed child. Clapping back again, Drake drops Family Matters, where he alleges abuse and infidelity. And then for the final time, on May 4, 2024 Lamar responds to Drake with the song, Not Like Us. In this song he mentions, "Say, Drake, I hear you like 'em young," alluding to pedophilia.

During the school year, Jasper High School students look forward to events that take place out of the ordinary. By joining clubs or just attending pep sessions, special events break up the long five-day school week.

WYLDLIFE. Seniors at Jasper and Southridge have the opportunity to be Wyldlife leaders to local middle schoolers that are involved in the Wyldlife program. These seniors get the chance to go to camp and lead the kids in Bible studies.

BPA. Enduring the long wait at BPA, freshmen Ruby Wanninger and Victoria Gunselman scroll on their phones. Waiting for your BPA category to be called could mean waiting up to two hours in the lobby, leaving lots of downtime for the students.

colts. Anti-bullying speaker and Colts mascot, Trey Mock, came to JHS to speak about being yourself around your friends. Seniors Lilly Rasche, Jocelynne Calderon, and Allie Werner pose for a picture with him afterwards.

SNOWBALL. Student Council members helped set up and take down the decorations for the winter
Snowball. Junior Isabella Harmon and senior Mitchell Mauck work together to make a balloon arch during their free periods at school.

GIRLS ON THE RUN. Several upperclassmen take two days out of their week to help coach Girls on the Run at Ireland Elementary and Jasper Elementary. Seniors Mackenzie Wagner, Sarah Oeding, Maddy Gaug, and Lilly Rasche all volunteer as junior coaches.

FREE HUGS. A group of sophomores pose with guest speaker, Ken E. Nwadike, Jr.. He spoke on being true to yourself while still having fun and reaching your goals.

prom store. To raise money for prom, juniors design Jasper themed merchandise to sell to their families and friends. Senior Malakai Fleming shows off his new sweatshirt, designed by junior Isabella Harmon.

SCOTLAND TRIP. Over Summer Break a small group of students took a trip to Europe to explore popular locations from books. Senior Grace Cassidy poses in Scotland during the week-long trip.

WE THE PEOPLE. The government class, We the People, learn about the Constitution and test their knowledge at local competitions. Seniors Mackenzie Wagner, Bri Wiseman, and Meredith Knies take their practice test in front a board of judges.

BULLETIN BOARDS. Student Council members would decorate a bulletin board for their grade at the beginning of each month. Students, staff, and parents all got to vote for the best board in Mr.
Mauck's newsletter. The senior's last bulletin board included pennants that they could sign.

before Spring Break, freshmen in Mrs. Keusch's English 9 Honors classes dressed up as Greek Gods and gave a performance acting as their chosen god.

10 DAY FILM FEST. Students in The Radio TV and Radio Capstone classes compete in a short film competition, where they are only given ten school days Seniors Abby Gehlhausen and Drew Miller's prompt was "doppelganger,"

WILDCAT CORNER. After COVID-19, the Wildcat Corner store shop closed its doors. This year the marketing classes have taken the opportunity to reopen the store, and sell their own t-shirt designs and other merchandise during lunch periods.

PI DAY. To celebrate her retirement and pi day, Mrs. Stenftenagel bought over one thousand cupcakes for everyone in JHS to have. "I have wanted to do this for a long time," she mentions as students lay out over 1,000 cupcakes each with a digit of pi on them.

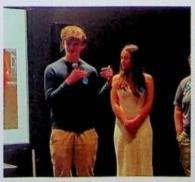

JOB FAIR. This year, students got the chance to visit the job fair during their English class periods. The job fair was intended for middle schoolers visiting the school, but this year the juniors and other grades got the chance to take a visit.

HOSA. During the Christmas season, the HOSA students help plan their annual HO-HO-HO, HOSA's Hopes for the Holidays. The money they raised at Retro went to families in need for the holidays. During seniors Allie Freyberger and Giselle Bez's rotation, they stayed warm with hot chocolate.

@JHSMEDIA1. Using both Instagram and TikTok, senior Lilly Rasche handles the advertising of yearbook sales. She follows popular trends, and interviews people in the halls. "FOLLOW US ON TIKTOK!" you can frequently her say after her interviews.

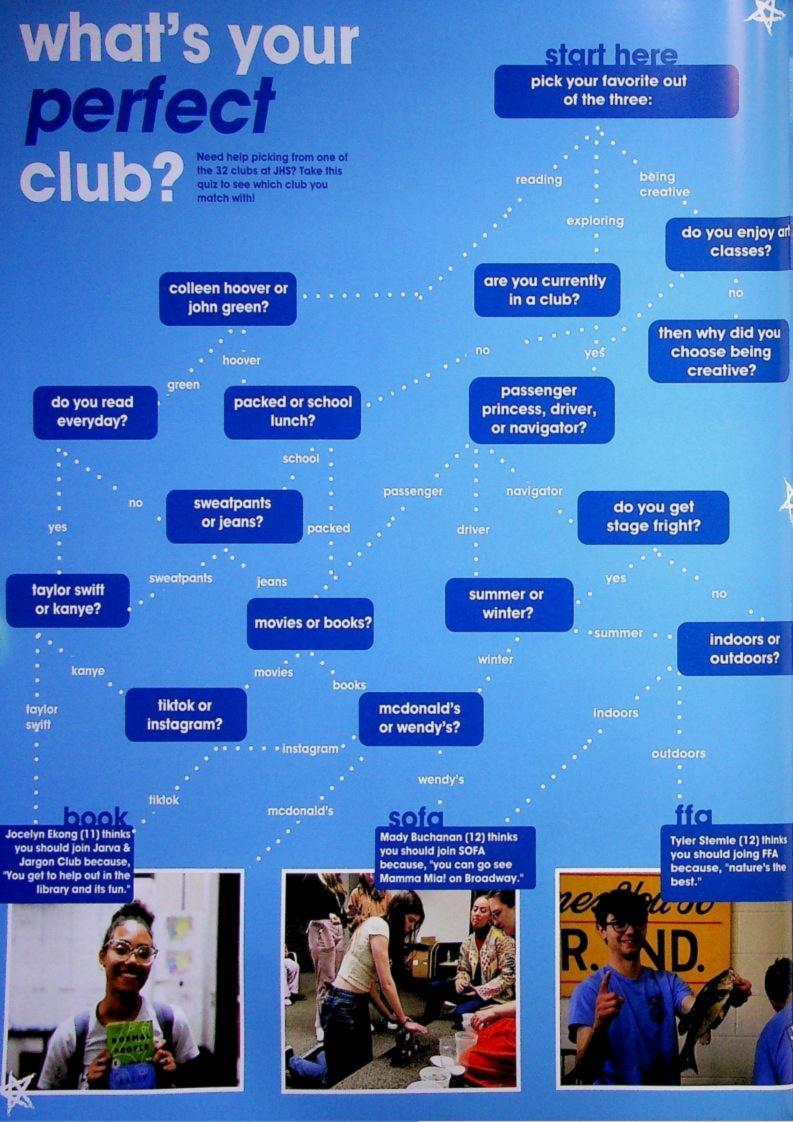

VA BENE. The Va Bene is a competition where the radio students submit a short film they made together over a span of two weeks. Junior Leo Wolf and sophomore Ava Claire Werne speak about their award winning film at the banquet.

TEACHER APPRECIATION.

Student Council members make signs for teacher appreciation week and hung them up around the school.

a team A young line-up

Varsity had a starting line-up consisting of only one senior in the mix of seven. The lonesome senior Trey Gutgsell headed the team at number one singles. With the holes caused by graduate seniors and injuries, no one was confident on the line up. However, the Wildcats

entered tournament time in September ready to serve.

When it came to the regular season the team fell just five times. Even with the success of the regular season, the team kept up their hustle during post season practices. In the span of seven days two trophies were returned to Jasper with the team breezing through Sectional and Regional. All five spots won in all four matches. After breezing through four teams, the Wildcats prepared themselves for the storm that would hit them just three short days later. On October 7th, Jasper ran into a prior loss from earlier in the season, Evansville Memorial. During the regular season the Wildcats fell to the Tigers 4-1, giving them little confidence for the post-season competition. The cats know, however, just because they lost once, doesn't mean they can't win now. After a hard fought fight, Jasper earned their ticket to the State tournament to continue the legacy of the program. This group of seven, all of which hadn't touched the court on varsity just two years ago, clawed all the way to the final four, before barely losing 3-2 to Columbus North.

Wildcats defeat the Tigers after tension earlier in the season

Following both doubles teams, 2, and 3 singles leaving the courts, the teams were tied 2-2. The only remaining player on the clay was senior Trey Gutgsell. Following a 4-1 loss in regular season, and a bit of drama between the teams following, all the weight was on Gutgsell's shoulders for the team to move onto state. After over two hours, and a three set match, The Cat's were onto state. Trey described the tension and the match and the close match, "I hate to lose, but I don't fear it".

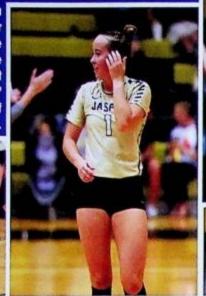

A LITTLE FISHY. Junior Reece Fischer serves the ball to win against Forest Park. Fischer plays at two doubles with sophomore Cole Lampert.

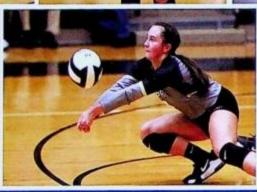

GAME OF MISTAKES. Senior Maria Buechler looks across the court to her teammates before the next set. Since she has been playing since elementary school, she says that volleyball is, "the game of mistakes," and that making mistakes is a part of the game.

READY UP. Sophomore Haley Atkins gets into her playing position before the ball gets sent her way.

OUTTA HER LEAGUE. Freshman Nora Breitwieser dives for a ball. Nora and Hallie Recker are both freshmen playing on the varsity team which takes extreme talent. Nora was originally nervous of what her teammates would think but she says that they, "bonded on and off the court," as a team.

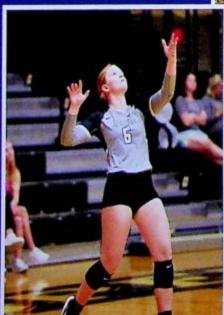

The whole team comes to support the varsity team COUNT is in session.

EYES ON THE PRIZE. Junior Olivia Young carefully eyes the ball before making a perfect serve. Preparing for each game requires the team to be in the correct mental space.

PERSONAL CHEER SQUAD. Girls on the JV and Freshman team celebrate after the varsity team scored.

Every team has their own "thing" that makes them special and unique. The Girls Volleyball team has many. Not only is this team elite, they understand that getting better as a team is how to get better individually. Senior Paige Giesler puts it, "We knew what we were capable of, we just had to play the game. If we did that, we'd be perfectly fine." The Lady Wildcats put all they had on the court and ended their season with an overall 23-8 and a 7-2 conference record.

Their season came to a devastating end against Evansville North after beating them previously in the season. The Cats fell short during a five set game; scores: 25-17, 25-21, 22-25, 23-25, 16-18. Varsity Assistant Coach Clark commented, "Losing is always difficult, but losing when you are expected to win is worse." This loss is not what should define their season, instead it should be their incredible victories. They attended both the Brownstown and Columbus East tournaments and snatched both trophies. Junior setter, Carlee Rogers, claims that, "When we go to tournaments, we decide that we're gonna play to the absolute best of our abilities." After their season, all three seniors, Maria Buechler, Ava Englert, and Paige Giesler made the Indiana High School Volleyball Coaches Association's 2023 Academic All-State Team. Even after the heartbreak caused by the end of the season, this team will go down as being victorious in every aspect of the game.

Following a season with great success, including being second in the SIAC, the Wildcats expected a just as exceptional post season run. From the Sunday before when the Cats caught wind of their draw, they knew they had a challenge ahead of them. The first game of sectional began and was a dog fight from whistle to whistle. Though many attempts from both teams in the first half, nothing crossed the line to give the Wildcats or the Huskies an advantage. It wasn't until the clock had wound down to just under eight minutes when senior Moises Ortiz managed to score. Ortiz touched on this, "Scoring the winning goal made me feel euphoric knowing that I put my team into the next round of sectional." After a win on Monday night, the boys had a rival to take down on Wednesday. The Castle Knights were next up on the chopping board. With the past in mind, coming in runner-ups to the Knights in the SIAC, there was more sense of a need to win. During the first half, Castle managed to score a goal, leaving the score to be 1-0 for a majority of the game. Then came the second half, with just 21 seconds left on the board, senior Brandon Elizarraras scored to give the Cats a chance to reach the sectional final. It would be just minutes later that a ball snuck into the back of the Knight's net. Senior Mason Schue placed the ball in after a pinball few seconds. Just as the Cats began celebrating, the side referee put his flag in the air. The goal was taken away due to an alleged shove of a defender as the ball was being shot. "Being that it was my only goal this season, it really sucked that they took it away", expressed Schue following the game. With the score being back to 1-1 and Jasper in much distress the Castle Knights progressed down the field and made their way to the goal twice in the final six minutes of the game.

KICK PUTT. Holding signs made by the booster club, juniors Sophie Cook and Kristin Roos pose before they leave for State. Unified football going bans together going non-stop Unified Flag Football, a program designed to bring together athletes with and without disabilities, is becoming more popular at Jasper High School. This year's team, a mix of students from various backgrounds, not only breaks barriers but also redefines what it means to be a team. Practices were intense and filled with teamwork. Each practice was a blend of hard work and fun, as players honed their techniques and built friendships. The team's spirit was evident as they cheered each other on and celebrated every small victory, from a perfectly executed play to a well-timed defensive stop. As the first whistle blew and the football season kicked off, our unified team wasn't just gearing up for a game; we were embarking on a remarkable journey of inclusivity, teamwork, and transformation. This year, the football team proved that when people come together with a shared goal and mutual respect, they can achieve greatness both on and off the field. As the season progressed, the team faced challenges, but what stood out was their unwavering support for one another. Freshman Clara Noblitt mentioned, "It doesn't really upset anyone when we lose because we know we played our best game. We all get along and are just here to play football you know." The team was not just about winning games- it was about creating a sense of belonging and accomplishment. Each practice was filled with laughter, encouragement, and the occasional friendly competition. Senior Clayton Mundy commented, "I love football, and I like playing on this team." The team proves to be a little bit more than a sports team. As the team looks forward to future seasons, their impact will continue to resonate. They've shown that when people come together with a shared purpose, extraordinary things can happen.

HANDS UP. Where strategy and skill dominate the spotlight, there's a moment before every game that rises above tactics and drills, a moment that captures the very essence of what it means to be a team. That moment is the pregame huddle. The team huddles around one another as their coach gives them a short pep talk before the game begins.

Holsworth scored the most offensive points this season with a total of 112, and a whopping 1,504 yards. Carter was often recognized by his team as one of this seasons best players. Senior Max Bueltel, noted, "Carter Holsworth had a very impressive senior season."

Junior, Luke Heichelbech, added, "He always got us the yards we needed." SWITCHING OUT. Junior AJ Huelsman jogs to the sidelines. After playing a full quarter, he is ready to be swapped out.

OFF TO STATE. The Jasper Cross Country team was ecstatic and relieved when they heard the news they had made it to state. All the grueling after school practices after school had finally paid off. "When running at State I was actually more relaxed because the hard part of making it there was over." said senior, Kate Jerger.

CHASING THE FINISH

senior Bittersweet goodbyes

PROUD MOMENT, Even though senior Ari Wiseman was injured most season, she was still recognized for her hard work and attitude on the team for the previous years.

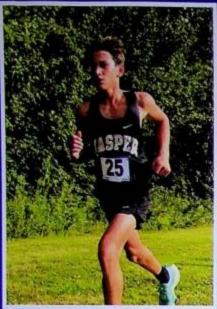

This year's cross country season was filled with pure surprises. From the very first practice, it was clear that the team was a family. The sound of laughter echoed through the trails as teammates encouraged one another to go the extra mile. Day after day the girls sacrificed their time and energy into conditioning and prepared themselves for the long season that was awaiting them. All that hard work proved to have paid off after winning first place with a total of 38 points at the Jasper Invitational early in the season. Every finish line crossed was met with high-fives, hugs, and shouts of encouragement, no matter the placement. The team later proved themselves again that all those early morning and weary after school runs were beneficial when they achieved first place again at the SIAC Conference

The highlight of the season came at Regionals. With nerves running high, the team put their training to the test. As the final runners approached the finish line, the atmosphere was electric. "I was just focused on racing my best race. I think the whole team had fun and pushed themselves to the limit." expressed Andyn Lampert, sophomore. Their hard work earned them a spot at State Finals. The celebration that followed was one for the books, a true testament to our unity and determination.

RUNNING TO STATE. On October 28. two members from the boy's cross country team competed at State. Senior Keith Kippenbrock and freshman Calvin Seitz were the only members from the team to qualify. Seitz finished 9th overall, with a running time of 15 minutes and 23 seconds, he finished as the best freshman in State Final History.

RECORD LOWS. Senior Keith Kippenbrock finishes at State with a running time of 16 minutes and 36 seconds.

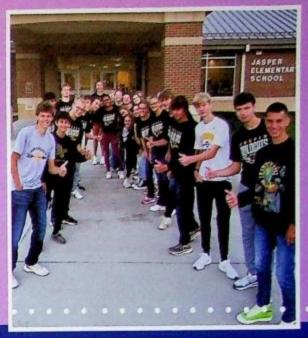

The Cross Country team pushes themselves through the season going the distance

On a crisp Saturday afternoon, the boys cross country team gets ready to race in their annual home invite. As one of the two home meets this season, the team hopes to use their knowledge of the field to their advantage. The season was marked by standout moments; the thrilling victories, the hard-fought losses, and the personal bests that made every mile worth it. The only senior on the team, Keith Kippenbrock, led by example this season. As one of the two members from the team to make it to State, he felt that he, "made an impact on the team. I like practicing together with them and we have created a bond." The bond on and off the field helps them celebrate their wins and losses. From simply carpooling to practice together to attending Haunted Houses during the Halloween season, the team has grown together as the months go on. Beyond the lows of some losses, it was the camaraderie. that defined this season. The bus rides filled with laughter, the team dinners, and the shared goal of crossing the finish line together created memories that would last a lifetime. The friendships formed on the trails were as significant as any trophy. As the season drew to an end, it was clear that this team had not only achieved great things on the course but had also grown as individuals and as a group. They had learned that true success is measured not just in times and places, but in the dedication, the hard work, and the spirit of camaraderie that made

miles of Bringing cheer smiles

The cross-country team was one of the first sports teams to welcome the elementary schoolers as they walked into school. They spread out across the sidewalk to give high-fives to the bus riders as they made their way into school. Their enthusiasm put a smile not only on the elementary schooler's faces, but also their parents and staff members.

The Golden Age of Jasper Boys Wrestling is upon us. Where the number of wrestlers have doubled since 2021, the talent and dedication from members have tripled. Senior Jaylon Van Slyke has lived and thrived through the growth. He claims, "I can't put wrestling enjoyment into words. It's just the fact that I know I'm constantly improving and I can make the sport my own." With his previous experience, Van Slyke came into his final high school career with high expectations. Unfortunately he overestimated his competition at the start of the season and did not perform as well as he knew he could. Jaylon had to relook at the season ahead of him. He realized that, Without the right mindset, however, even getting through a match is impossible. Van Slyke came back, focused on the right mindset and conditioning, and blew his original expectations out of the water. This idea stayed consistent with the rest of the team as they came from a season filled with highs and lows and left as a team with a 51-11 record. After all, the match doesn't end until the referee raises the winner's hand. Soon

Blayne believes that, "The winner isn't always the one with more skill, it's the one who is more passionate than the others."

Turning the tables after years of being the underdog

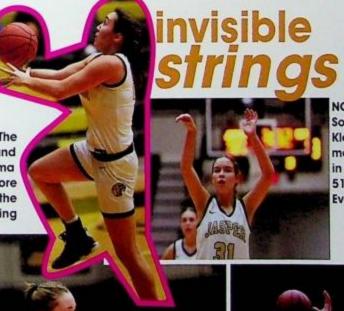

Following two decades of losing seasons and a coaching change in 2022, the Lady Wildcats found their way to a larger number on the left than the right. With a record of 17-8, following a disappointing first round sectional exit, the 2023-2024 team left a lasting impact on the program as a whole. With only three upperclassman on the team, one being senior Emma Schipp, many underclassman had some pretty big shoes to fill with two starting spots being open.

By February 4th as the ball was being tipped, the starting line-up was brought up of Emma Schipp, Carlee Rogers, Ella Erny, and the Kleiser duo of Emily and Brooke. Through this quint came the leader in scoring, Rogers, with 271 points. Though they lead on the court, they also lead outside of the sidelines leading the team to success through service work. Junior Carlee Rogers spoke on on the impact by, "Serving the community has helped us lead on and off the court. It (service) makes us better people and helps the little girls watching to look up to us". This leadership was shown all the way to the final buzzer against Evansville Central as the Lady Cats season came to an end following a 51-38 loss.

No, that wasn't a typo on the roster. The roster of 10 consists of Kleiser and Schipp times two. Lone senior Emma Schipp, along with her sophomore sister, Caroline, took up two of the spots on the varsity roster. Emma being found one of the starting five. "Being able to share the court with her a couple times this season created some very special memories", Emma expressed when asked about playing with her little sister. Also found in the starting five is the Kleiser duo. Twins Brooke and Emily Kleiser, sophomores, are the starting one and two for the Cats. "She is someone that will always be their to cheer me up and I am always their for her", described Emily Kleiser on her bond with her twin, Brooke.

other, on and off the pool deck. tighter than tech suit

After almost 6 years of ruthless practices together, locker rooms more humid than the Amazon Rainforest, and competitions that seem to last years, the Jasper Girls Swimming team has bonds that can withstand anything thrown their way. Swimming may be an individual sport but creating a good team dynamic is essential to success, which the team is far from short of. Senior captain Sophie Conrad feels the closest to this team compared to other years and remarks, "coming together to cheer and support each other is one of my favorite parts of this team." The girls exceeded every expectation set and ended their season 14-1 barely losing to Castle in a dual meet. Together they were able to make history by becoming the first girls team to earn the title of SIAC Conference Champions. Even with the new titles and records they created, the team still had to return back to tradition and jump into the pool with their coach Kristin Gutgsell after their sectional win. Junior Reagan Book mentioned that, "it's been happening for as long as I can remember." The underclassmen hope the tradition continues for years to come.

QUEEN OF THE CHLORINE. Junior Kara Kurucz swims the 200 IM (Individual Medley) that qualifies her for her first individual placement at state. Kurucz is very excited for next year's team and the talent that will come with it. Her goals are to, "get faster and have a fun time with the team."

RUN IT BACK. Junior Nicole Fant swims a warm-down after winning the 50 meter freestyle. Fant went on to place 24th in the 50 meter freestyle and 11th in the 100 meter backstroke at state. Because of her incredible performance, she was given the title of SIAC swimmer of the year. Nicole's talent will only grow from here.

FLYING TO STATE. Lillie Polley, junior, squeezes in one last breath before finishing her 100 meter butterfly. "My favorite part of the season was advancing and competing at state," Polley commented after her season finished.

TAKE-YOUR-MARK. Linzi Vanmeter, junior, awaits the buzzer to jump from the starting block. Linzi believes that, "Thinking about breathing techniques helps me focus when on the block," which is a necessity when beginning a race.

STAYING AFLOAT. The girls jump into the pool after winning the sectional title.

NO CAP. Senior Sophie Conrad stares at the scoreboard in disbelief after swimming a season best time of 58.3 seconds in the 100 meter freestyle. "It feels amazing to go back to state," Conrad exclaims, "the past two years of swimming have been difficult because of school and sickness." Sophie is returning to state for the first time since her freshman year.

The Wildcats continue to show their dominance within their 15 team sectional.

SWIM SMOOTH. Jonah Kuczynski, a sophomore on the team, swims the 500 meter freestyle. He later placed second at sectionals in the event. It was not enough for him, however, as he claims, "I was so close this year so I really want to win next year."

underclassman standouts give the team high hopes for the future.

TAKE A DIP. Sophomore Caden Beck glances up at his 50 meter freestyle time. Caden had enough talent and drive to qualify for state last season which is a part of why he is a vital member of the team. Caden, "Envisions what's going to happen before it happens," in order to find his competition mindset.

The boys set their goals early on in the season and dedicated everything to achieving them.

eyes on the prize

After narrowly losing the sectional title last year, the Jasper Boy's Swimming Team set their goals for this season. To get the title back. The senior team captain, Leo Eckman, relishes on this idea by insisting, "The loss last year was hard. We wanted to dedicate this season to regaining the title." The team worked hard and pushed themselves to the edge during every meet and practice. The work paid off and the team walked away from the regular season with a perfect record. The boys' confidence was unmatched by their competition walking into sections. After prelims, they were seeded to place first going into finals. Freshman Grant Wehr describes the team as feeling, "Very pressured to swim the best we could in order to succeed. The competition, dedication, and pressure to succeed paid off as the boys walked away with the sectional trophy. Carson Book, a junior on the team claims, "Although our team consists of newer swimmers, our bonds and dedication to succeed really helped us to accomplish our goals." After working up an appetite during sectionals, the team ate at PLACE which helped seal in the BACK, BREAST, FLY, FREE. Senior Pace Clark prepares to launch from the block for his 200 meter IM. Because it was his last season, Clark had many goals including swimming under 24 seconds in the 50 meter freestyle. He surpassed this goal by qualifying for state in the 200 Medley Relay which he describes as, "extremely rewarding."

FINISHING HARD, Senior Trey Gutgsell looks up at the clock after finishing his 50 meter freestyle. Surprisingly, this is Gutgsell's first year on the team and he claims, "I wanted to swim for my aunt (Ms. Gutgsell)."

> PULL STRONG. Usman Jaffri, a senior, swims the 100 meter breaststroke at sectionals, Usman believes swimming "Is a lot different from other sports, so I was super excited to join and become a part of the team."

ON YOUR MARK. Freshman Pascal Conrad waits for the buzzer to start his 50 meter freestyle. Conrad conquered the huge feat of qualifying for state as a freshman. He's going places, and he knows it as he commented, "I have the rest of my high school career to look forward to."

WATCH FOR THE FLAGS. Carson Book, junior, swims his 100 meter backstroke at sectionals. Book has had a fantastic season with being a sectional champion in two events. Unfortunately, Carson had to scratch at state due to an injury but he assures, "I plan to return healthy next year, and place top 16 at state."

SPREAD YOUR WINGS. Freshman Grant Wehr swims a 100 meter butterfly qualifying him for state. Grant was not only a conference and sectional champion his freshman year but he also broke the 38 year old 200 IM record set by B. Drew. He shares, "The jobs not done. There is still a lot of swimming left in my career."

rookie to the sport, Brynlee had no idea how the season was going to go.
She vocalized, "My first thoughts were that diving

As high school comes to a close, it's clear that the track team's journey has been nothing short of extraordinary. From the early days to late nights, the team came together through early mornings and intense workouts, evolving into a close-knit group of athletes. With 75 wins to 5 losses the girls flew past all competition finishing first in sectionals, 4th out of 47th at regionals, and second in the SIAC.

Many awards were given throughout the season. Most valuable senior went to Ava Englert, senior leadership award went to Kate Jerger, metal attitude award went to Madelyn Knies, die hard award went to Monica Lorey, most field points went to Emma Ship, and most running points went to Madelyn Knies.

Two school records were broken this year. Molly Kramer on pole vault at sectionals. Senior, Alexis Byrd, junior, Monica Lorey, sophomore, Ella Clark, and freshman, Molly Isaacs broke the 3200 relay. All of these girls received their varsity letter this past season, along with 25 other teammates.

Senior, Ava Englert, received the most overall points throughout the whole season ending with 142.75 points in total. Six girls were state qualifiers this past year for 3200 relay, pole vault, and hurdles. The girls had a very successful season although they didn't place at state.

LOCKED IN. Junior, Levi Welp stands waiting for his turn to put. Welp shares how he succeeds during matches saying, "During the match I like to focus of committing to the shots I'm hitting and not getting worked up if something doest go the way I intended."

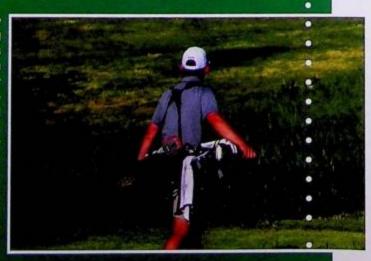

swinging to state

Junior Caleb Schnarr won the regional competition advancing to state where he placed 7th. His finish was the highest finish by a jasper golfer since 2013. Schnarr commented on his state performance, "I was really proud of my performance. Placing 7th truly was the highlight of my season." Schnarr has been on an upward slope ever since freshman year. He wants to carry on this success into his senior season.

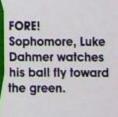

The JHS boys golf team has had a phenomenal season. Placing 4th at conference, 1st at sectional, 1st and 2nd at regional, and even sending a team member to state. After a rough conference meet the guys needed to preform their best to be able to come out victorious during sectionals. They entered the competition striving for a win to keep the win streak going. They ending up winning the title by 25 strokes shotting a ground breaking 305. Teammates Caleb Schnarr and Luke Shappard lead the team to victory, Schnarr placing 1st with a 4 under (68), and Shappard placing second with a 1 over (73). When asked about the teams sectional performance senior Luke Shappard shares, "I feel like we played some of our best golf, and we could see our hard work pay off. It felt good to continue the state record of consecutive sectionals." Having a strong team dynamic is essential to any team, but one reason the guys found such success on the course is their devotion to each other off the course. Senior Carson Bauer says, "We hung out almost everyday after practice, and it really helped out on the golf course knowing that they were always there for you while competing." The strong relationships between golfers drove them to dominate the field of other golfers.

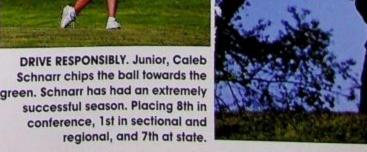

The guys play for par or below

DOWN TO A TEE. Luke Shappard, Senior, watches his shot approaching the green. Shappard had a fantastic final season placing second in sectionals, and second in regionals. Although he did not qualify for the state competition he was still extremely proud of his final season. When commenting on his sectional performance he says, "Getting second was a good feeling, but I feel like I didn't play my best, but it was good enough that day for 2nd."

DRIVE RESPONSIBLY. Junior, Caleb Schnarr chips the ball towards the green. Schnarr has had an extremely successful season. Placing 8th in conference, 1st in sectional and regional, and 7th at state.

pinnies & The iconic pinstripes take back their season winnies

The past is truly the past, even in a game revolving around four bases and a bat. With a season ending game against cross county rivals in sectional during the 2023 season, the Cats wanted more.

As the regular season came to an end with a 22-6 record, placing fourth in the SIAC, there were high hopes for the post season.

With the first round of sectional being against the Southridge Raiders, it felt nearly the same for all involved. But for the 2024 season, the Cats switched the roles. The reversed roles that ended in a 12-3 score and a chance to get the sectional trophy back to Jasper. The afternoon games were not exactly a breeze against the Alices and Hatches with both being just one cycle away from turning the game around. Luckily for Jasper, pitchers arms were fresh and the trophy would be placed back into the trophy case.

With one trophy under their belt, there was a thirst for more. With a challenging back and fourth scoring battle against the Memorial Tigers, Jasper lost in a close 2-1 regional game.

softball post season cut short. shine brig on the diamond This year's softball season means a lot for the Jasper High School feam. This 2024 season, for them team spirit is the most important, the team members are a second family. At the "Strike Out Cancer' match the Wildcat's team defeated Forest Park with a score of 18-1, with a big win helping them raise a fund to go towards leukemia research. Continuously with the winning streak, scoring 15-12 or the standout match of this year is a proud 7-2 win at Boonville that also senior night. With the aim of winning the sectional championship, the softball team practices non-stop. "No pain no gain" is a saying that accompanies them throughout their training sessions. The sport brings everyone together, more joy as well as the relationship they have formed with teammates also the reason why this season has many beautiful and meaningful victories. Words to describe this year, according to Elise, "Enjoyed, the team worked wonderfully that inspired me every game, made me keep moving on and never give up."

History repeating itself

History repeating itself. Almost as though the Wildcat's 2023 season is happening once again as the Varsity team finishes with a top four finish. With a close quarter-final match against South Bend Saint Joe, Jasper fell 3-2 ending their season, gaining a white medal for the third time in the past four years. But it was not just the team that seemed to be an exact resemblance of the 2023 Wildcats, as the Indiana doubles state champions are once again Wildcats.

This year, the number one doubles team, consisting of senior Paige Giesler and Junior Reese Mundy brought home blue medals around their necks. With a score of 6-3, 6-4 over the Fishers Tigers, the pair became State Champions. This was not only a historic event for Jasper tennis, but also the state of Indiana as a whole. For the first time in thirty plus years, back to back doubles individual tournament champions from the same school were a completely different combinations of players.

congratulations

senior superlatives

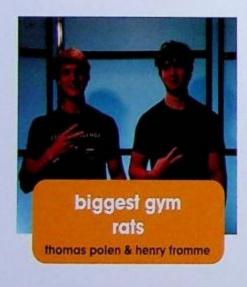

Every year at Jasper High School, seniors nominate their peers for a superlative, and then proceed to vote after all the nominations are in. Students get to vote for who they think is the best fit for each category from the whole class of 2024.

cross-country seniors

"There is no time to think about how much I hurt, only time to run." -Ben Logsdon

Celebrate your wins and keep the lessons you have learnt all along the way. The memories you have made will last a lifetime. Think about bus rides, long runs, hard work outs, pumpkin painting, bobbing for apples, pancake Saturdays, remember teammates, coaches and parents that have been part of your journey.

As parents we have been on the sidelines of your flight for years. The play-by-play trip continues as we want to slow down the timeline. We are constantly inspired by your training, depressed by the grocery bill in season, amazed by your results, overjoyed to cheer you on along the way. We are so incredibly proud of your

Continue working hard and chasing all your dreams.

We can't wait to witness the path you weave in life.

Today graduation; tomorrow the world! You've always written your own story. We are so happy that we got to be with you during the adventure of high school. As you grow and start a new chapter, we want you to know how proud we are.

Love, Mom, Dad, & Bub

jhs media seniors

A big thank you and congratulations to all of our JHS Media Seniors! Your dedication and extra effort in the program are truly appreciated. Whether it was a fleeting moment like a great break on The Curve or a lasting contribution like a page in the yearbook, your talent is invaluable. I are proud of your achievements and excited for your future endeavors!

With Thanks, Evan Elrod
